Lasteyrie, the Minister of Finance, has stated that the total sums to be returned to investors in the Banque Industrielle de Chine will be 400,000,000 francs, of which 300,000,000 francs will go to the Far East and 100,000,000 francs to France. The French Treasury will not be involved in the allocation of the indemnity, which will be made by a consortium the constitution of which has not yet been published.

TICKET ISSUE FOR WASHINGTON BALL IS LARGEST EVER

Applications To Date Ahead Of Previous Years In Number

The ticket issue for the Washington Ball to be held at the Town Hall next Wednesday evening is far ahead of schedule as compared with previous years, it was stated yesterday and those who plan to attend and, who have not yet filed their applications are advised to do so without delay.

Final details of the annual affair are to be discussed and settled tomorrow afternoon at a meeting of the committee to be held at the home of United States Consul-General E. S. Cunningham. Applications for tickets should be directed to Captain V. Olsen, 30 Fearon Road; Mr. F. J. Raven, American Oriental Bank, or to Miss Lillian May Wilkinson, American Consulate.

Commons Will Debate Hongkong Slavery Question

(Reuter's Service)

London, Feb. 14.—In the course of question in the House of Commons on the subject of child slavery in Hongkong, Colonel John Ward asked whether Mr. Churchill did not think that the abolition of the right to buy and sell human beings for any purpose in a British Crown Colony was overdue. Colonel Ward termed it a disgrace to the British Empire.

Mr. Churchill suggested that the matter might be debated when the Colonial office estimates came up for discussion.

NAVAL STRENGTH OF U. S. GREATLY CUT SINCE WAR

Secretary Denby Gives Figures For Vessels And Personnel

(Special To The China Press)

Washington, Feb. 14.—Secretary of the Navy Denby in a statement issued today pointed out that since 1919 the wartime naval establishment had been reduced from a total of 1362 vessels to 300 vessels; 32,708 commissioned officers to 6,163, and 470,723 enlisted men to 100,999.

He said that the net result of the arms conference has been that Great Britain will have twenty-two capital ships, the United States eighteen, and Japan ten, without limitation on auxiliaries. When the conference opened, the United States had forty-six battleships, thirty-five cruisers, 218 destroyers, 148 submarines, 197 auxiliaries, and a mosquito fleet of 164.

At present, the battleships are carrying only eighty-four percent of their peace-time complement, the destroyers fifty to eighty per cent, and the submarines forty. It is quite clear that the navy is undermanned, he said.

TO SAVE 70 MILLIONS

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Feb. 13.—Secretary of the Navy Denby, speaking at a meeting of the Naval Committee of the House of Representatives, recommended fixing the Naval personnel for the coming fiscal year at 90,000 men and 6,000 apprentices as compared with 100,000 and 6,000 respectively at present authorised, but no reduction will be made in the number of active officers.

He advised that 100 destroyers should be taken out of commission. It is estimated that this program will save G,$70,000,000 annually.

RAILWAYMEN ORGANISING IN NORTH TO AID SAILORS

Each Man To Give One Day's Pay To Strikers

OFFICIALS WORRY

Fear Building Up Of Strong Railroad Union

BY JOSEPH W. HALL
Staff Correspondent of China Press

Peking, Feb. 15.—Sympathisers with the Cantonese seamen are trying to raise funds for them among employes of the Government railways, and are meeting with considerable success. Associations are being formed among the employes of the Peking-Hankow, Peking-Pukow, Peking-Mukden and the Peking-Suiyuan lines, the members each pledging one day's pay for the assistance of the strikers.

A large proportion of the railwaymen are Cantonese and there is a strong bond of sympathy between them and the striking sailors. The leaders of the movement are taking advantage of this to develop the movement into a general railwaymen's organisation. Railway authorities express considerable fear that if the Hongkong strike is not quickly settled there may be a serious reaction among the railwaymen of the North.

Indications that the strike in Hongkong is breaking are increasing, for the Golden State, owing to the better outlook, is going to stay in that port for three days against the previous decision to only call there and pick up passengers on her way from Manila.

The Golden State arrived in Hongkong Tuesday and expects to sail for Shanghai from Hongkong on Saturday on schedule. She will discharge in Hongkong some 300 tons of through cargo from the United States. She is expected here on February 20. The Hongkong cargo will be landed with the aid of the Police coolies. She is fully booked all the way through. In the ordinary course the Golden State should have stayed at Hongkong for six on seven days.

AVOID HONGKONG

The Blue Funnel liners on their way from the United Kingdom have deemed it advisable in almost every case to avoid Hongkong and discharge the cargo destined for Hongkong in Shanghai.

The Tyrchus which arrived here on February 8, discharged about 900 tons of Hongkong freight in Shanghai, while the Theseus, which had some 1,700 tons of cargo for Hongkong, also unloaded it here.

The Demodocus, another Blue Funnel liner, which arrived here on February 3, landed about 1,800 tons of merchandise consigned for Hongkong, in Singapore.

The Agapenor, which came into port here on Monday, is discharging only a portion of her Hongkong cargo in Shanghai. She is expected to sail for Hongkong on February 23.

The P. and O. boat Khiva came in yesterday morning from Hongkong on schedule and sails for Japan on Friday morning. The Tanda, another of the P. and O. fleet, which left Shanghai for Kobe on Monday, discharged her Hongkong cargo here. The Kashgar which arrived from Hongkong on February 4, discharged her Hongkong cargo here.

MONTEAGLE COMING

The Canadian Pacific Steamship Company's Monteagle, which was expected to sail from Hongkong Tuesday left that port yesterday and is due here on Saturday. The Ningpo sailors who were despatched on the Ichang arrived safely Tuesday at Hongkong, and the delay in the sailing of the Monteagle may be attributed to this. The exact sailing of the Empress of Japan is not known, but it is assumed that she will follow on the heels of the Monteagle.

The Canadian Pacific Company have taken steps to ensure that the Empress of Russia, which is at present in dock in Hongkong, will sail from the port on the scheduled date, February 23, strike or no strike. The Empress of Russia will be in Shanghai on February 25.

Since the beginning of the strike the Admiral Line steamers have moved on schedule.

Debate Over Budget Leads To Uproar On House Floor

(Eastern News Agency)

Tokio, Feb. 15.—In the House of Representatives yesterday, when the budget for the present fiscal year was brought up for debate, both the Kenseikai and the Kokuminto Parties refusec approval and argued with the Government party so fiercely that the chamber at last fell into confusion, creating such a disturbance as has not been witnessed of late.

In the turmoil, a member of the Kenseikai Party was knocked senseless. All the members of the Kenseikai and Kokuminto Parties left the chamber prior to voting which consequently was carried out by the Seiyukai Party alone. The Budget thus passed the House of Representatives wthout one vote against it, the total number of votes for it being 251.

POINCARE ADAMANT ON GENOA PROPOSAL

"Sitting Tight And Content," Newspapers Say

FLIRT WITH RUSS

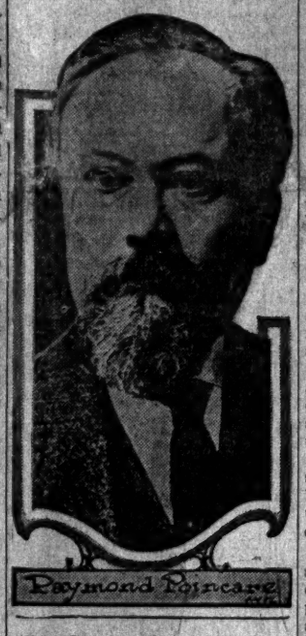
Curious Campaign In Paris For Reconciliation

(Trans-Pacific News Service Exclusive To The China Press)

Paris, Feb. 14.—Compromise is the one word left out of the lexicon which Premier Poincare uses in writing his latest note. His language, according to French opinion, indicates that he continues to look England squarely in the eye and since French and British views are so diametrically opposed, many critical moments in the negotiations now are expected. But they will be decisive moments, asserts the French press.

It has been authoritatively stated that even if Britain consents to a postponement, Poincare will not go to Genoa, but will offer that post on the firing line of diplomacy to Viviani who is likely to accept.

Even if there is a postponement, Poincare is equally satisfied, for he then will retain liberty of action for France and no longer will consider the French Government bound by Allied agreements or the Cannes invitation. Poincare is sitting tight and seems content with his position.



Raymond Poincare

He is known to believe that Viscount Grey has the support of a large and influential portion of the British public, and suspects that the successor to Bonini in the Italian Cabinet will not be quite so eager to leap headlong into an economic conference that may be fraught with difficulties for Italy, preferring to play safe for the present.

Poincare also is working with the Little Entente in a sympathetic way for support of his view on the Russian question. So, taken all in all, he has many trump cards. It is expected that a grand shakeup in the French diplomatic service is near.

EXPERTS MAY DELAY IT

(Reuter's Service)

London, Feb. 14.—Though announced in London that no decision has yet been taken regarding the proposed postponement of the Genoa Conference, the heartiness with which the French semi-official press today welcomed the British proposal of a preliminary meeting of experts inspires the fear in London that the French Government will suggest so many technical questions for discussion that the meeting of experts may last for months.

The French efforts to sidetrack the Genoa Conference have been accompanied recently by a curious campaign in favor of friendly relations between France and Bolshevist Russia, a section of the Paris press featuring interviews with prominent Bolshevists, dwelling on the immense wealth of Russia and suggesting the possibility of France's recovering her Russian debts by assisting to relieve the Russian economic situation.

As the Genoa Conference is regarded in Paris as essentially a

Italians Wait Outcome Of Controversy Over Harbin Consular Post

New Minister To Deal With Situation In Which One Brother Replaced Another Who Was Incarcerated In Chinese Prison

All Italians in China and other foreigners as well are expectantly awaiting action that may be taken by Signor Cerutti, newly appointed Italian Minister, in connection with the singular situation at Harbin where an unusual controversy which arose in the Italian consular office has seriously disturbed the whole Italian community and also has touched upon the interests of other nationals.

Two brothers, Mr. Peter Gibello and Maj. Joseph Gibello, are the outstanding figures of the dispute, the ramifications of which already have extended to Rome, and possession of the post of Italian Consul at Harbin, formerly held by Mr. Peter Gibello, and now held by his brother, the Major, forms the issue upon which the Gibello brothers and their followers have split.

BROTHER VS. BROTHER

The change in the administration of the Italian Consulate took place about six months ago and was effected in an extraordinary manner, for in taking over the post Mr. Peter Gibello was placed under arrest—on orders of his brother, Major Gibello, according to well authenticated report—and was confined for a time in a Chinese prison, later being released from custody at Tientsin whither he had been removed by an armed guard. He is now is Shanghai awaiting developments in the north.

In the months that have followed the time when Major Gibello assumed the duties of Italian Consul the Italian community has been kept in a high pitch of excitement by reason of a series of extraordinary incidents not the least interesting of which were several searches of dwellings in which Russian and British, as well as Chinese interests became involved. Through the period of the controversy charges and counter-charges of the utmost gravity have been hurled back and forth against the principals and those supporting them and an element in the situation said to have been disclosed is that a considerable traffic in arms and ammunition has been going forward in the Manchurian center.

DEPOSED MAN POPULAR

Mr. Peter Gibello, the deposed official, has been a resident of Harbin for many years and is said to hold the high esteem of the great majority of Italian residents in Harbin, who number 33. According to general report it was upon the petition of 28 of the 33 Italian residents that he was appointed Italian Consular agent at Harbin some years ago.

He is a graduate of the Italian Technical Institute and since he came to China he has been engaged in more or less extensive railway construction work. It is said that when the Russian revolution of 1917 spread to Siberia, through the popularity he had achieved he was acclaimed as friend by the soldiers' and workers' executive, though contractors elsewhere were regarded as usurpers and were obliged to flee for their lives, and at the same time he retained the friendship of the monarchists. In connection with his business activities some publicity was given at Harbin to alleged sales of goods and equipment by Mr. Gibello to the army of Ataman Semenoff.

It is known that his commercial enterprises met with a fair measure of success and he was regarded as a man of wealth, his villa at Harbin being perhaps the finest residence in the place.

OTHER A MONARCHIST

Major Joseph Gibello, the present Italian Consul formerly was in business in Italy and after the war began he served as Russian interpreter for a period and later was attached to the war propaganda department of the government. For his services in this department he received a cigarette case from the Queen and was promoted from Captain to Major of the Reserve. Also in recognition of his war services, it is said, he obtained for himself the appointment of Italian Consul at Harbin, the post his brother was holding.

By those in close touch with the situation it has been explained that Mr. Peter Gibello has been an active member of the Italian Socialist party for more than twenty years while his brother, the Major, always has been a monarchist of the most pronounced views and a strenuous supporter of imperialism.

STIRS UP STORM

Details of what happened when Major Gibello came to China to take over the Consular post his brother was filling differ, but it was quickly made apparent that the change was one displeasing to many Italian residents at Harbin. According to earlier reports opposition to the newly appointed Consul when he arrived was so strong that a conflict arose when he sought to take over the duties of the office and in this situation he called in the aid of the Chinese authorities

'EDUCATION' BLAMED BY L. GEORGE FOR INDIA UNREST

Premier Fails To See Any Cause For Alarm

MONTAGU HIT

Unionist Says Ghandi Should Have Been Arrested

(Reuter's Service)

London, Feb. 14.—In the House of Commons today Sir William Joynson Hicks (Unionist) moved an amendment to the address expressing the opinion that the unrest in India was the result of Mr. Montagu's administration and voicing the hope that immediate steps would be taken to restore law and order.

He asserted that Mr. Montagu governed India with Liberal ideas without the assent of the conservative supperters of the coalition.

Sir William said that Mr. Montagu's policy was a criminal betrayal of the white men and women in India and had broken the heart of the finest civil service in the world.

Mr. Ghandi, he said, should have been arrested years ago.

Mr. Montagu declared that the British Government had the fullest confidence in the Government of India and that he had every reason to believe that they were worthy of that confidence and that we would win through in India to happier times.

PREMIER'S THEORY

Mr. Lloyd George said there was much in the state of India which justified the grave concern felt, but he deprecated alarm. The situation was well within the compass of our strength, without adding to our burdens.

Dealing with the causes of the unrest, the Prime Minister described the education of Indians at English universities as putting new wine into old bottles. These burst and intoxication swept over the East. The story of India was the story of China and Japan. It was inevitable that when the chemicals of the East mix with those of the West an explosion should be produced. The Russo-Japanese war had had a most disturbing effect throughout Asia. The agitation in China was the same exactly, and had a similar cause, as India's agitation: Chinese students were imbibing the ideas of American democracy.

Mr. Lloyd George further referred to the effects of the war on India, particularly the war against the greatest Islamic power in the world, and said that it would undoubtedly be an enormous advantage if peace could be made with Turkey. He hoped shortly to rediscuss the matter with the Allies, but it must be a just peace and they must be fearlessly just to both religions and races. The Prime Minister concluded by stating that the educated classes of India must be given the best opportunity for making the experiment initiated two or three years ago with success, but further reforms must await the result of that experiment.

AMENDMENT BEATEN

The amendment was rejected by 248 votes to 64 and the address in reply to the King's speech was then agreed upon.

London, Feb. 14.—In the course of the debate in the House of Commons on the Conservative motion censuring Mr. Montagu's administration, Mr. Montagu announced that the Indian Government a few days ago had ordered the arrest of Mr. Gandhi but in view of the decision of Mr. Gandhi and his colleagues not to pursue non-co-operation and other illegal activities, it had postponed proceedings with a view to ascertaining how far the decision meant the complete cessation of illegal activities.

Mr. Montagu said he did not believe that the British Parliament ever would jeopardise India's opportunity of self-government but the exhibition of separatist tendencies and disloyalty to the King and Emperor and the futile attempts to mar the welcome of the Prince of Wales must postpone or prejudice British goodwill towards Indian aspirations.

Given goodwill and partnership, he continued, no rights would be denied India by the British Parliament, but if the existence of the Empire were challenged, the discharge of the responsibilities of the British Government to India prevented and demands made in the very mistaken belief that we contemplated retreat from India, then India would not successfully challenge the most determined people in the world, who would once again answer the challenge with all the vigour and determination at its command.

Bombay, Feb. 14.—Mr. Ghandi announces that he has begun a five days penance for the Chaurichaura tragedy, which he regards as another warning against a hasty embarkation on mass civil disobedience and his bitterest cup of humiliation.

In addition, Mr. Ghandi advises criminals to surrender voluntarily to the authorities.

INDIAN DELEGATES' VIEWS

(Reuter's Special Service)

London, Feb. 14.—Interviewed by Reuter's representative on his arrival at Southampton from Washington on board the s.s. Aquitania, Mr. Sastri, the chief Indian delegate to the Conference, said that the chief direct interest of the Conference to India was the alteration of the Chinese tariff.

In consideration of the fact that she was agreeing to forego the rebate allowed on goods crossing the Burmese border, India regained the freedom to levy duties on goods from China to Burma across the land border. He had notified the Chinese authorities to this effect and they had agreed that this was very important.

The Conference, Mr. Sastri added, was a much greater success than some of the outside delegates had hoped and the final feeling in America generally was one of congratulation, chiefly because China had received substantial gains. All now depended on whether China established a strong Central Government and reaped the full advantage of the acknowledgment of her full sovereignty and territorial integrity.

British Insurance Company Fails

(Reuter's Service)

London, Feb. 14.—All efforts to save the City Equitable Fire Insurance Company from liquidation have proved fruitless and the High Court has granted an order for the compulsory winding-up of the Company on the Company's own petition.

Counsel for the Company said it was perfectly clear that the Company was insolvent and unable to carry on its large business. The petition was supported by twelve other insurance companies, some of whom are large creditors of the City Equitable.

The newspapers have been giving prominence to the departure to the Continent of Mr. G. L. Bevan, Chairman of the City Equitable Company. On Feb. 8, he travelled by motor-car from the Carlton Hotel, where he has a suite of rooms, to Croydon, from which place he journeyed to Paris in an aeroplane. The newspapers have since been unable to trace Mr. Bovan, but relatives state that he was bound for the South of France under medical orders owing to a nervous breakdown. Mr. Bevan has interests in numerous businesses besides the City Equitable Fire Insurance Company.

Question Of Glasses For Boy Ex-Emperor Splits Imperial Clan

The question of whether or not the boy ex-Emperor, Hsuan Tung, should be allowed to wear spectacles was recently the subject for an interesting controversy in the Imperial household, according to the Chinese press.

The youthful scion of the Ta Ching house has become very shortsighted, the report states, and most of the household favored the idea of glasses. The ex-Empress dowager, however, is said to have made strenuous objection on the ground that no former Emperor of the dynasty had ever worn such a device. The dispute was settled when a doctor from the Peking Union Medical College was summoned and ruled that Hsuan Tung must don spectacles if his sight is to suffer no further impairment.

and with them brought about the arrest of his brother.

While these events were in progress Italian residents who had opposed the newly named Consul forwarded to Rome a petition of protest in which they asked that Mr. Peter Gibello be retained in the post from which he had been ousted. It is alleged that Major Gibello characterised the petition an act of sedition and further charges are that he has used his position unlawfully to harrass and oppress all those who had signed it.

As an illustration of the charges made against the new Consul one sentence from an account published in the Japan Weekly Chronicle is enlightening. It says: "An Italian who refused to withdraw his declaration in favor of Peter has been prohibited from doing business in Harbin, and his passport has been withdrawn, to another who applied to him for redress against Chinese, the Major is reported to have replied that he could defend only friends of the Consul."

ANOTHER INCIDENT

According to reports, it was with the surpose of arresting an Italian resident who had signed the petition and otherwise had been active on behalf of Peter Gibello that one of the searches of dwellings had been brought about. The man sought was one Mr. Vespa and stories of what happened are to the effect that in making a raid about 3 o'clock in the morning Major Gibello, accompanied by two Italian sailors and an employe from the Italian Consulate, invaded quarters that were occupied by one Major Carwell, a British subject, and Captain Muchanoff, a Russian. Mr. Vespa was not found and an outcome of the alleged raid was a number of complaints and protests voiced by all concerned.

A note of the ludicrous is injected into the situation in connection with another action credited to Major Gibello. Efforts had been made to arrest another Italian, one Mr. Razazzo, it is said and when it was found impossible to surprise him at his home the allegation is that the order was issued that all of Mrs. Razazzo's clothing, including all of her laundry should be removed to the Grand Hotel and held there until the missing man surrendered himself. It is said that after much difficulty and pleading when Mrs. Razazzo literally had nothing to wear she succeeded in getting back the things that had been taken.

Another recent incident of the controversy was a search made by the Chinese authorities, with the assent of the Italian Consul, it is said, of the residence of Mr. Peter Gibello. This was made, say the reports, on information supplied by one Kosloff, who is quoted as having declared that 300 rifles and four machine guns were concealed in the residence. The search continuing over two days was made by Chinese soldiers sent out by the Chinese general staff and when nothing was found to bear out Kosloff's information, the informer was arrested by the Chinese.

Major Gibello is still in the official saddle at Harbin while his brother Mr. Peter Gibello temporarily is in Shanghai. Active supporters of both sides have been taking various measures of offense and defense and what the outcome is to be probably shortly will be made known from the Italian Ministry at Peking.

The new regulations are to come into force in three months.

Washington, Jan. 14.—Clyde Milan, outfielder, will be the manager of the Washington American League baseball club this season, it was announced tonight by President Clark Griffith.

Milan is a native of Tennessee and has been a member of the local team since 1907, when he was obtained from the Wichita club of the Western Association. As pilot he succeeds George McBride, who resigned last month, due to illness resulting from an injury received on the field last season.

The appointment of Milan as manager is heartily approved by Roger Peckinpaugh, star shortstop, recently secured by Washington from the New York Americans and who has been mentioned for the managership left vacant by the retirement of George McBride.

"I think Milan knows as much baseball as anybody in the game and I feel certain he will be a success as manager," said Peckinpaugh tonight when informed that Clark Griffith had selected Milan as manager. "I don't know who I would rather play under than Milan," he added.

Peckinpaugh sent a message of congratulation to Milan at his home in Linden, Tenn, tonight.

Mothers' Section Of Woman's Club Hears Talk On Child

The regular meeting of the Mothers' Department of the American Woman's Club was held yesterday at the Royal Asiatic Society Rooms, Mrs. Van Buskirk presiding.

Mrs. Peter presented the speaker, Mrs. Mary Newell Woodbridge, M.D. who gave a clear and most helpful talk on "The Development of the Child." Mrs. Woodbridge said that every child is born with the instinct and capacity for education. But it has to learn everything laboriously. A child adapts himself to his environment very quickly. Therefore the utmost care should be taken to make all of his surroundings productive of good thoughts and impulses. Heredity is also very important in the development of the child. Inherited tendencies show in every child, both good and bad. It often shows in the mental development, also in the faulty development of the thyroid and other glands, which help develop poise and balance of our makeup. All through the lecture slides were shown illustrating the points brought out. As, for example, the effect of introducing thyroid extract from a sheep in a child that had no gland of its own.

Many diseases of children are due to environment, as ricketts, due in turn to lack of proper nourishment. Mrs. Woodbridge spoke of the importance of insisting on children holding the body erect, assuming a good sitting position as this prevents curviture of the spine. Also great care should be taken in holding a small child. Parents should watch mouth breathing children. They should be examined by a doctor as it is usually due to adenoids. A great evil is thumb sucking which tends to misshape the mouth and teeth. Parents must work to develop obedience and trust in their children and should show interest in all work and pleasures of the children and keep a careful watch on growing tendencies especially at adolescence. The spiritual side of a child should be guided and watched.

The next Mothers' Department Meeting will be on March 1 at the Carlton Cafe.

An Eminent Authority

on life insurance once described the policy contract of a "legal reserve" company, such as ours, in the following words:

"Plain business contracts which tell their whole story upon their face; which leave nothing to the imagination; borrow nothing from hope; require definite conditions, and make definite promises in dollars and cents."

Such a contract, backed by this Company's soundness and integrity, cannot fail to be a reliable source of constant protection to the policy-holder.

We would welcome the opportunity to show you our policy forms or to answer any questions about this organization.

Yu Ji-chang Likely To Get Rail Job

(Eastern News Agency)

Peking, Feb. 14.—Though rumor has hitherto been circulated that Mr. Chou Tzu-chi would be appointed Tupan (managing director) of the Shantung Railway, the Government has withdrawn the proposed appointment owing to the strong opposition of the people of Shantung province and also to the flat refusal of Mr. Chou to accept the post.

In consequence, Yu Ji-chang, Wang Cheng-ting, Wang Chung-hui, Wang Chuan-yuan, Pang Fu, and Chin Yun-peng are now being put forth as candidates. It is reported, however, that Mr. Yu Ji-chang is the most promising candidate.

AN ESSENTIAL FOR PROMOTION.

In the Saturday Evening Post of January 14th, J. R. Sprague deals with the question of why many young men are not promoted more rapidly in the organizations where they are employed.

He writes: "In preparing this article I talked with perhaps 75 business men, big and little . . . There was one point on which the verdict was unanimous: it is labor wasted to try to train any one for the managership of business who keeps himself habitually in debt, who shows he cannot finance his own affairs intelligently."

Japanese Refute Charge Of Conspiracy To Wreck The Far Eastern Republic

Japanese Publicity Bureau

Vladivostok, Feb. 7.—We have received from official sources in Harbin the following: There appeared in the Peking and Tientsin Times, of January 12, an article under the caption "Japan's Deliberate Policy" (by Observer) which treats of the incident of Major Mural's party's collision with a band of Hunghutze at a point north of Tsutsihar on December 12 of last year, as well as of the arrival of a party of Japanese "ronins" at Tsutsihar last autumn after the collapse of the army of Baron Ungern under whom they have been serving. But this observation is far from the facts, founded only on "Observer's" imagination. We therefore feel it incumbent upon us to explain the real facts.

Japan does not finance the Merkuloff Government, not counting small private transactions between Japanese residents and the Merkuloff Government as is the case with other foreigners.

On December 12 last, for purposes of connection with the Japanese Military Mission at Blagoveschensk, Major Mural's party which consisted of sixteen persons, with eight trucks, was proceeding northward along the road about twenty Japanese ri (about fifty miles) north of Tsutsihar (it was near Tsutsihar, and not near the Amur river as "Observer" says). In order to show that the party belonged to the Japanese troops, the advanced car was carrying the Japanese flag.

ATTACKED BY RED BEARDS

Passing a point south of a village named Kutien, the party suddenly fell in with a band of Hunghutze. Major Mural waved two large Japanese flags above his head to show clearly that the party belonged to the Japanese army, but in spite of this, some sixty or seventy Hunghutze surrounded the party and opened fire upon them.

The Japanese were obliged to answer them, in self-defense, and fought to their utmost but owing to the Hunghutze's overwhelming strength (four or five times superior) the whole party fell.

The article contains a passage to the effect that "the trucks then proceeded and eventually fell in with the Hunghutze, who put up a stout fight but were defeated, etc;" if this who has as its antecedent the Hunghutze, the statement is far from true, for the Japanese fought merely in self-defense and fell.

Being unacquainted with the real circumstances of the event, "Observer" seems to have purposely misrepresented the objects of Mural's party, saying that they had with them "a transport loaded with arms and ammunitions, and even machine guns" to make preparations at Blagoveschensk for the assistance and reception of the Merkulofist forces when these should arrive there.

It is needless to say that the above statement is mere invention aiming at the defamation of the Japanese forces. Prior to his departure from Tsutsihar, Major Murai took every possible step for a full understanding with the Chinese authorities, especially by seeing the Military Governor himself to whom he explained the party's task.

MILITARY NECESSITY

The maintenance of connection and communication with the Japanese Military Mission at Blagoveschensk is a matter of military necessity only, having nothing to do with the political state in the Maritime province. Such connection parties have been repeatedly sent so that Major Murai's trip was but a usual business; and though it failed, owing to the actions of the Hunghutze the Japanese military authorities have no intention to drop the matter; and our Harbin Military Mission is going to send to Blagoveschensk another party to supply the needs of the Japanese Military Mission in that city.

The "Observer" speaks of another incident related in the so-called Tsuruga message to the Asahi, which reports that out of a total of twenty-one Japanese who joined a party of bandits in Siberia eleven were killed in a recent affray near Kulun, while the remaining ten returned to Tsutsihar where they found "protection at the local Japanese Consulate." As we understand it, this statement points to the Japanese volunteers serving in the Army of Baron Ungern who severed relations with the army of Semenoff of the Trans-Baikal region in Autumn of 1920.

These volunteers secretly joined Baron Ungern's forces in spite of the preventive measures taken by the Japanese authorities then at Chita.

PRIVATE CAPACITY

Having no connection whatever with the Japanese Government, they served only in private capacity, a fact well known from the statement made last autumn before the Bolshevik court by Baron Ungern, then a war prisoner.

When these volunteers returned to Tsutsihar, after the collapse of the army in which they had been serving, our consulate there minutely investigated their case, so as to determine whether they were guilty or not. So far from receiving favorable treatment they were even taken into temporary custody and finally deported from Manchuria in accordance with the Japanese laws.

The Japanese Government and particularly the Japanese Military authorities have not the least intention of conducting a so-called "dark policy" in Siberia or in Manchuria, and are not so foolish as to resort to the expedients imputed to them.

Being one of the great actors on the political stage of the world Japan is too proud to try and gain such trifling and insignificant profits as would please only children.

The "Observer" says that no Russian reactionary forces ever push on the places not already more or less prepared for their reception by advance guards of Japanese troops. This statement passes our comprehension for the Japanese Army in Blagoveschensk and Habarofsk is represented only by Military Missions, each consisting of only 5 or 6 soldiers and 1 or 2 officers.

BRANDED ABSURD

Mural's party of twelve or thirteen persons in all, not counting interpreters, was proceeding to Blagoveschensk for the purpose above mentioned. To imagine that the object of this handful of men was to strengthen the Japanese garrison (not existing) in that city, and to give assistance to the Merkulofists, would be absurd indeed.

Japan is at present conducting negotiations at Dairen. If it were her real purpose to split the Far Eastern Republic, there would be no necessity to treacherously cheat the other party by holding such a Conference. Even after these pourparlers were commenced if she thought better to break them off, she has the power to do so at any moment. And yet this Dairen Conference is being carried on by Japan, especially by the Japanese expeditionary forces at Vladivostok. If the Japanese Militar authorities at Vladivostok had the wish to destroy the Far Eastern Republic by assisting the Merkuloff Government they could do so with the greatest ease: surely there would be no necessity of wasting time in carrying on negotiations at Dairen. So much ought to be clear to a school boy.

Whites Withdraw From Habarovsk

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Vladivostok, Feb. 13.—Owing to Habarovsk being badly situated strategically, the Whites have withdrawn from the town temporarily to safer positions in the south, in expectation of a Red attack on their left flank.

General Gutter with part of the Fifth Soviet Army and General Serischeff with the Chita forces, are outflanking Habarovsk. There has been no fighting as yet, but the Kappel's position is critical, owing to the severe shortage of arms and munitions.

The Japanese are inactive and indifferent. The sympathy of the peasants is with the Whites.

Lloyd George Sees Market In Russia

(Rosta News Agency)

Moscow, Feb. 8.—Mr. Lloyd George in an official speech is reported as having made the following statement:

"We are a people of merchants. This statement entirely explains the present state of affairs in Europe. We have to live, we have to eat, and therefore trade must prosper. The instability of exchange, proving the bankruptcy of half the world, makes it impossible for us to stand the competition of the Germans.

"The huge market of Russia does not exist for us. This state of affairs cannot endure any more. We are bound to begin negotiations and to come to an agreement."

The Genoa Conference is said to be regarded by Mr. Lloyd Georges as the only way of solving the problem.

Is woman ruled by her feelings alone?

"Health Better than it has been for Years."

Our portrait is of Mrs. WOODROW, of 56, Robinson Road, Tooting, London, England, whose husband writes:

"My wife has suffered very badly for the past four or five years with Piles, being unable to sleep at night or get any relief during the day. She tried several advertised remedies, none of which did her any good. Some three weeks ago she thought she would try 'Clarke's Blood Mixture,' and before she had taken half a bottle she was better, and by the time she had finished the second bottle she was quite cured. She can now sleep well, eat well, and get about her work, and her general health is better than it has been for years." In a further letter some eight months later Mr. Woodrow writes: "I am pleased to say that since my wife's cure of Piles in September, 1918, there has been no sign of return of the trouble."

CLARKE'S BLOOD MIXTURE, by reason of its remarkable blood purifying properties, can be relied upon to give speedy relief and lasting benefit in cases of Eczema, Bad Legs, Abscesses, Ulcers, Boils, Pimples, Eruptions, Piles, Glandular Swellings, Rheumatism, Sciatica, Gout. A letter has been sent by one Yu Kwei-cheng to the Chinese Advisors to the Municipal Council, urging the revision of the present system of the employment agencies that recommend female servants. Mr. Yu states that the undertaking on the part of the recommenders to guarantee the honesty of the servants is often unreliable, and that there have been some cases where the agencies were closed without the knowledge of the employers.

The passenger traffic on the Shanghai-Hangchow Railway has suffered instead of being improved since the new time table came into force with effect from February 1. The special express which leaves Shanghai at 8 a.m. is too early for most of the passengers and the ordinary express in the afternoon does not satisfy the passengers who want to save time on the journey. At present the night express is best patronised.

A Judicious Inquiry

A well known traveling man who visits the drug trade, says he has often heard druggists ask a customer, who wished to buy a cough medicine, whether it was for a child or an adult and if for a child, they almost invariably recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The reason for this is that they know there is no danger from it and that it always cures. There is not the least danger in giving it and for colds, croup and whooping cough it is unsurpassed.

Sea-Sickness Can be Prevented!

No Drugging—No Unpleasant After-Effects.

An appreciative doctor wrote:—

"Lady——was placed under my care for the voyage Home. I could not accept any responsibility as I considered she was in great danger from haemorrhage should she vomit. She had always been a very bad sailor. As a precaution she was given two capsules of 'KIRBY'S SEA-SICK CURE' immediately she went on board. We got into rough water shortly before midnight, but Lady——had an undisturbed night's rest. She took one capsule half-an-hour before dressing. She had breakfast in the dining hall, and assured me she had no sensation of nausea or sickness. Although we had rough weather for five days, and at other periods of the voyage, she was not sea-sick. There was no nausea of any kind, and the remedy produced no after-effects."

Coming Baseball Season Promises High Grade Sport

Departure Of Several Local Stars Will Not Cripple Team

While baseball moguls are trying to determine who's who in the presidential chair deciding whether or not the manager and secretary should be selected from the committee of five wise ones, and pondering over the writing of a set of bye-laws that will properly control the club, fans and players are beginning to wonder who will don the first uniforms and where they will play.

Shanghai suffered heavily through the fall and winter from departures of some of the best ball players that have ever played for this town. With Cy Wilhoit, Tinkham and Hoag moving up north, Merrill drafted beyond recall into the Navy, Terry returned to the States, Crow on extended leave perhaps not to return and Sperry passed away, prospects for the approaching spring might be considered as anything but bright.

But the old club will worry along nicely, thank you, in spite of the loss of the good men mentioned. Several real ball players already have been located among the new arrivals, and it is certain that more will be out at the park when the first practice session is called. In addition, some of the young players, who showed excellent promise last year, with better opportunity to get into games are certain to develop class enough to "make" the new team.

ONLY PITCHERS SCARCE

Analysing the situation one finds that the only and chief source for worry to the new captain, whoever he may be, will be the pitching staff. The loss of Merrill and Terry, in spite of the excellent playing qualities of other departing members of the team, is the most serious that the club has sustained. Other departments will be fully as strong as last year, and with new pitching material developing, even Merrill and Terry may be nicely replaced.

Dennison, last year's find of course will have to bear the brunt of the box work in the early games, maybe with Herby Gallop and Bud Hewitt filling out. Herby nursed his arm along nicely last season and hopes to be able to throw a few games in 1922. Of the new recruits one, named Wynn is known to be a pitcher, and Church, a former Cotton States League south-paw infielder with a speedy peg might also be worked in. If these two men prove up, and Gallop can fill in, Shanghai will be well off for hurlers.

Backstopping will be in the hands of veterans: Roeser, Bristow and Griffith, a good trio, all competent to go into the outfield, or even infield, and hold up his position.

INFIELDERS PLENTIFUL

Infielding promises the greatest number of really good men. Hopkins of course will cover first, and handle it as well as Cy did. Hoppy is really a first sacker, and with an opportunity to get settled at the position this spring will cover the corner beyond all worry.

Woods, Ladd, Irle, Smith, Posner, Church and Hendrickson are available for second base, with President Bills at short and Maloney at third. The only fight for infield places will be for the middle sack. If Church is really a good minor leagher, it would seem that he might make it, but he will have to show great class and speed to beat out all of the other six candidates. Woods and Smith have played the position and have handled it well. Hendrickson and Ladd, both really third basemen, might be worked in at second while Me is playing third. Irle, of basketball and football fame should play the bag well if one may concede that he plays baseball anything like the basket or gridiron games.

For the outfield Shanghai has many old timers: Pruett, Smith, Stovall, Hewitt, Nelson, and a long list of others to chose from: Hirsh from Nanyang, and those men not working within the diamond or behind the bat.

Looking them all over again, the season promises not only one team as good as last year but two teams when needed for games, better even than the Reds and Blues of 1921.

DAVIS CUP PLAY FOR WOMEN TO BE URGED IN U. S. A

Another attempt is being made by the United States Lawn Tennis Association to start play for the Wightman Cup, which was offered by Mrs. Hazel Hotchkiss Wightman of Boston as a trophy for international competition among women. When this question was put forth two years ago the nations approached approved the idea, but various difficulties prevented the start of the matches.

Believing that conditions are now more favorable for beginning such an event and convinced that it would have a surprisingly beneficial effect upon women's tennis throughout the world, the United States has again advanced the idea. This is conveyed in a letter from Julian S. Myrick, president of the United States Lawn Tennis Association, to Mr. Gallay, secretary of the International Lawn Tenis Federation, requesting that the matter be laid before the delegates attending the federation's next annual meeting.

Mr. Myrick pointed out that when this was first considered it was suggested that the contest take place under regulations resembling those for the Davis Cup contest. Discussion with representatives of other associations has led to the opinion that it might be desirable to make the regulations much more elastic, and accordingly new ones are proposed as follows:

1. Representatives of any nation or of any recognised semi-independent section of a nation (such as Canada or Australia, &c.) are eligible to compete.

2. The nation whose representative has won the trophy shall be the champion nation and shall have possession of the trophy while it is the champion nation.

3. Whenever a nation desires to challenge it shall notify the champion nation on what terms it would be convenient to compete. The minimum shall be two out of three matches in singles between the representatives of each country. But if the challenging nation desires to include more singles players or a doubles match such terms will be acceptable. (The intention being to make the terms of the competition as elastic as possible in order to better overcome practical obstacles.)

4. If the challenging nation's terms are acceptable to the champion nation nothing more shall be necessary. But if no agreement as to terms can be had then the United States Lawn Tennis Association shall act as final arbiter and fix the terms.

5. The United States Lawn Tennis Association reserves the right to alter the terms of competition at any time when it deems such alteration necessary to stimulate frequent competitions for the trophy.

Wonder Passaic High School Five Had High Records To Break

BY AARON HOLMAN
(In The New York Herald)

Do present day high school basketball teams compare favorably with those of the past? The question has been prompted by the recent emergence into the athletic firmament of the crack Passaic High School five whose unusual achievement of winning sixty-seven consecutive victories has startled basketball men the world over.

Much comment has been made upon Passaic's enviable record, and in New York not a little chagrin has been evinced. Passaic has every reason to be proud of the athletic accomplishments of their native sons. Passaic High School has defeated every preparatory basketball team of note and has hurled its challenge broadside to all comers, New York high schools included. But Father Knickerbocker is silent. His teams are below standard, and he can only wish for the days of the great teams not so long ago.

J. Lloyd Haber, a graduate of Stuyvesant High School, writes to the New York Herald and calls attention to the Stuyvesant team of 1918, whose record on the basketball court attracted so little attention in its own city. He writes: "The team that year, underfeated, won the championship of all high schools east of the Mississippi River. Among the victories was a 102—0 score over the Poughkeepsie High School."

Stuyvesant High School has, in fact, developed many cage teams whose reputations would not diminish through comparison with the great Passaic team of today. The team to which J. Lloyd Haber refers, was a combination of experienced high school players such as New York has not seen in five years. Were an actual contest possible between the Stuyvesant team of 1918 and the Passaic five of today, we venture to say that no more than two or three points would separate the teams at the final whistle.

And in our opinion the Stuyvesant team of that season was neither the best that institution has had to represent it on the court nor the strongest five that New York has had within recent years. During the winter of 1914-1915 two remarkable high school teams wore the colors of Commerce and Stuyvesant. Both teams were superior to the combination just mentioned, and though no credit is to be spared the Passic five, which stands supreme among high school teams today, we regard the ability of these players as having been on a par with that of the crack New Jerseyites.

No list of great high school teams of recent years would be complete without mention of the championship De Witt Clinton aggregation of 1913-1914. Their superiority as a team was just as marked among the high school players seven and eight years ago as that of Passaic is today.

How well the high school teams of recent years measure up by comparison with the leading secondary school quintet of today is a matter of individual opinion. There are no figures or statistics which can be introduced to bear weight with the followers of both Passaic, N. J., Jan. 14.—Passaic's sensational high school basketball team defeated the Englewood High School quintet 48 to 20 today. It was a Northern New Jersey Interscholastic League contest.

In the night same with Mattawan High School as the opponent, the "wonder" team made it sixty-seven straight by the score of 109 to 18.

FINE SHOWING IN FIRST WEEK OF 'Y' CAMPAIGN

The "Peace Team," headed by Mr. C. C. Nieh, chairman of the Shanghai Chamber of Commerce led in the membership campaign of the Shanghai Y.M.C.A. at the close of the first week last night. Second was the "Endeavor" team, led by Mr. M. L. Chow, Manager of Dah Sung Drug Co. The "Love" team led by Mr. S. Y. Wong, compradore of the Nisshin Kisen Kaisha came third. For winning the first places these teams were each awarded extra points.

Hundreds of members crowded the hall when the results were announced. The final results were flashed on the screen at 9 o'clock and created great enthusiasm as there was considerable rivalry for the first places.

The results exceeded those of a year ago by 6,000 points. This was considered most gratifying under the more or less unfavorable business conditions that prevail.

A part of the evening's entertainment was a "black art" pantomime put on by local amateurs.

The results of the first week's campaigning were as follows:

Team	Captain	Points
1. Peace	C. C. Nieh	2,591
2. Endeavor	M. L. Chow	2,239
3. Love	S. Y. Wong	1,904
4. Emancipation	M. N. Yang	1,780
5. Co-operation	Y. T. Woo	1,287
6. Sacrifice	E. S. Ling	1,267
7. Service	T. S. New	1,093
8. Equality	K. F. Chang	1,019
9. Liberty	K. S. Lee	863
10. Righteousness	Hsu Yuen	587

Total for all teams 14,405—a point represents one dollar collected either in subscriptions or membership fees.

Interest now centers in the second week. There are said to be some big surprises up the sleeves of some of the workers who have not shown up so well in the week that is past.

VOLUNTEER FLEET DEADLOCK SEEMS STRONG AS EVER

Further efforts to establish the representation of the Russian Volunteer Fleet yesterday resulted in the usual deadlock, except that a new angle seems to have developed. The latter arises out of a message reported to have been received by the Commissioner of Foreign Affairs from the Peking Government to the effect that the steamers of the Fleet are being, for the present, placed under direct control of the government.

Yesterday afternoon in Chambers at the Mixed Court attorneys concerned in the action brought against the steamers Erivan and Astrakhan by Patstone & Patstone and Mr. L. W. Hartigan, made applications and presented letters tending to establish the representation of the company before Assessors Tenney and Ivanoff and Magistrate Tsang.

Mr. Alexander Ting representing Mr. Goddard asked the court to take note of a letter received from the Commissioner of Customs in which recognition was refused the agents appointed following the old regime, which would include Patstone & Patstone and the present Chita-appointed agent, Mr. E. J. Elleder.

Dr. O. Fischer, representing Mr. Elleder, presented a letter from the Commissioner of Foreign Affairs wherein the new agents are recognised. No ruling was given.

The suit brought by Patstone & Patstone and by Mr. Hartigan, who are claiming for funds alleged advanced for food, medical attendance and maintenance of the crews and for legal representation, will be heard when Mr. Hartigan has filed a brief on the subject of maritime lien and Mr. Ting has replied.

Charcoal Thieves Make Bad Blunder And Land In Jail

Several days ago a godown on South Lee Hongkew Ka was broken into and 107 baskets of charcoal were successfully removed. There wasn't a telltale trace by which to track the thieves and if they had been discreet enough to have joined the ranks of the profiteers they doubtless would have occasioned never a ripple of suspicion and might have waxed moderately wealthy.

The burglars, however—there were three of them—adopted a particularly reckless course in disposing of their loot. Charcoal retails at 60 cents per basket. They went about selling it at 40 cents. And did a thriving business. They also created considerable discussion. Police investigation. Mixed Court. Six months for the ringleader and a month apiece for his assistants.

Give Charity Ball At Astor Tonight To Aid Refugees

Under the auspices of the Russian Benevolent Society a charity ball will be given this evening at the Astor House Hotel for the purpose of raising funds to aid needy refugees in Shanghai.

The need for funds for this purpose is great at the present time and it is hoped to realise a sufficient amount to make possible the establishment of free soup kitchens and to give free medical assistance to the destitute.

The ball is open to the general public and tickets of admission are $3 each.

PEKING "Y" HAS A CLEAN RECORD AT BASKETBALL.

(Chung Mei News Agency)

Peking, February 11.—In a fast and well played game last night in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium, the Peking Y basketball team maintained its undefeated record for the season by a 44 to 31 victory over the 15th Infantry from Tientsin. The game was evenly contested for the first few minutes of play but toward the end of the first half the Y. M. C. A. quintet began to accumulate a lead that was not again threatened by the soldiers. The first half ended with the score 26 to 19, and 18 and 12 more points respectively brought the final count to 44 to 31. A special feature of the game was the remarkable free throw shooting on the part of both teams, the Peking players netting ten out of a possible thirteen and the 15th nine out of a possible ten.

The game was fast throughout but during the second half the Y. M. C. A. players clearly showed their superiority and the visitors were forced to resort to long shots from the middle of the floor in a frantic attempt to cut down their opponents' lead and remain in the running. The contest also became somewhat more rough during the last few minutes of play but the Y. M. C. A. victory was never in very serious danger after their lead was once established.

Stars for the Y. M. C. A. were Wang at center, Kuo and Liang, forwards with all but one of their team's goals to their credit, Kuo shooting six and the other two men five apiece. Bruce, the right forward of the 15th was the heavy scorer for his team with four goals from the field.

Following is the line-up:

Peking Y. M. C. A.		15th Infantry
Kuo	R. F.	Bruce
Liang	L. F.	Oberhuff
Wang	C.	Bates
Ho	R. G.	Medge
Hwang	L. G.	Fox

Umpire—Forbes. Field Goals—Y. M. C. A., 17; 15th Infantry, 11. Goals from fouls—Y. M. C. A., 10; 15th Infantry, 9.

NOTICE

THE General Public is hereby notified that supplies of "IXL" IODISED THROAT TABLETS, the remarkable new throat remedy that is now being so largely and successfully prescribed by physicians in Great Britain, are now being made available for residents in China.

Representing the latest advance in scientific throat medication, these tablets, by reason of their iodine content, are indubitably superior to any other pastilles or tablets that have yet been evolved by scientific research.

Their use is positively indicated in all cases of Sore and Ulcerated Throat, Hoarseness, Quinsy, Throat Catarrh, Tonsilitis, Laryngitis, etc.

As a highly efficient throat disinfectant when epidemics are rife, IODISED THROAT TABLETS undoubtedly excel any other preparation yet put upon the market.

No malignant Diptheria, Influenza, or other germ can find lodgement on a membranous surface that has been subjected to the peculiar antiseptic influences of these tablets.

Pleasant to the palate, and allaying all irritation, each tablet, as it slowly dissolves in the mouth, releases, in harmonious combination with other fine quality medicaments, a specific quantity of the pure Tincture of Iodine, to soothe, heal, and sterilize the inflamed area.

WARNING:—All cartons of the genuine and original IODISED THROAT TABLETS bear the "IXL" trade-mark, and each tablet is embossed with the letter "A." Reject feeble substitutes.

All first-class chemists supply "IXL" IODISED THROAT TABLETS, but outport residents meeting with any difficulty in obtaining them are invited to communicate direct to the Distributing Agent, at 9A Kiangse Road, Shanghai.

AMAH REGISTERS KICK AGAINST REGISTRY PLAN

Now comes the servant's voice in the matter!

Of late there have been reams of resolutions and correspondence in the press about the registration of Chinese servants, all emanating from the employer's side. Hua Chi-lu signs herself as an amah, and here's what she thinks of the idea, according to the letter purporting to have been received from her by the Industrial and Commercial Social Club and printed in today's Chinese press:

"I note with surprise in the public press that certain American, British and French woman residents in Shanghai have asked the Municipal Councils to require the registration of all members of our trade.

"Our thought in working under foreigners is of course to earn a livelihood. But we have all attempted to serve industriously and sincerely in order to make us deserve the earnings we receive at the end of every month. We cannot really see the motive which has prompted the foreign women to require our registration.

"The facts as set forth by the agitators are not quite accurate and I shall briefly state them as below:

"When we are under the employment of foreign families, we have to furnish our own food and clothing before we can work for them. Payment of our wages is made at the end of each month. Sometimes, we cannot get our pay until two or three days after the month. It is not unusual for certain housekeepers to pay us, five, ten or 15 days after our wages are due. In the latter case, therefore, we have to live on our own means for 45 days before we get any money from the employer.

"Our 'working' hours are from 6 a.m. to 9 or 10 p.m., and when the employer is giving a party, we have to work till after midnight. It is evident that we cannot be accused of being lazy.

"There are certain ill intentioned mistresses who will place their articles in hiding in order to delay the payment of wages. Others would forget the place where they have left their articles and force us to find them before we are paid. A slight error on our part may often lead to barbarous action taken by our mistresses. In order to avoid humiliation, we often do leave their employment.

"The foreign women housekeepers assert that we ask for unreasonably high wages. We wonder whether they are aware of the increase of living cost. Besides, it is within their power to dismiss us if they find us charging them too high. We are afraid that the excuses they give for our registration are not based upon cold facts.

"However, we are aware of the fact that there are undesirables among our midst, but there are also undesirables among the employers. We should not pick them out as our examples.

"The world is becoming more Utopian every day and the principle of the equality of human beings is rapidly being universally recognised. We thought the civilized nations of the West place a great deal of emphasis on humanitarianism. We trust that they will devise some more sound means of handling the problem than registration.

"We are pursuing an honest living by serving others. Why should our free persons be required registration in the same way as prostitutes? Our unwillingness to comply with the requirement is fast and strong. We serve with sincerity; we expect our employers to treat us with consideration. We are not lifeless plants. We are capable of feelings and sentiments.

"Personally I have served my mistress for 12 years for a limited amount of wages. I do not wish to leave her because I consider her a good mistress. But I can frankly say that registration will do more harm than good!"

HEAD OF RICSHA THIEVES DRAWS LONG JAIL TERM

With the conviction and sentence yesterday of a shopkeeper charged by the police as the head of an organised gang of ricsha thieves it is believed that an effective check has been put upon the epidemic of ricsha larcenies which has afflicted the Settlements in recent months.

The case was pressed in the Mixed Court yesterday by Mr. R. F. C. Master, representing the Ricsha Owners' Association, who declared that literally hundreds of ricshas had been stolen, presumably under the direction of the accused. All of these vehicles had been bought back by the association members through middlemen who worked with the accused. The latter, according to the evidence, bought the stolen ricshas for $8 and sold them back to the organisation for $15 each.

Detective Sergeant Douglas declared that since the man's arrest there had been a noticeable decline in the number of thefts reported. The prisoner had confessed to nineteen instances and had implicated several other men.

A sentence of two years' imprisonment was imposed and warrants were ordered to issue for the men implicated by the accused.

COLLISION CASE TO BE RESUMED THIS MORNING

Further testimony was heard yesterday by Judge Skinner Turner and Lieut.-Commander Charles A. Brown at the British Supreme Court in the case brought by the British American Tobacco Company against the China Navigation Company as a result of a collision between the steamer Hoihow and a cargo lighter loaded with cigarettes on October 14. Plaintiffs were represented by Mr. Reader Harris and the defendants by Mr. R. N. MacLeod and Mr. C. M. Reece.

When the hearing was resumed Captain W. J. Andrews, of the Hoihow, was recalled and gave testimony regarding the position of his vessel. In reply to comment by the Court that the ship seemed to have been a long way over on the Pootung side of the river, the witness stated that he had to take up that position in order to get inside the No. 1 Naval Buoy and also to pass ships coming down the river.

The next witness called was Mr. N. Pinkney, Chief Officer of the Hoihow, who gave evidence corroborative of that of the Captain. The vessel passed Woosung about 1 p.m., he said, and came up river at full speed as far as the Standard Oil Company's wharf, when she reduced to half-speed. The witness was on the lookout in the bow of the ship. Several small craft were avoided after passing Pootung Point and four or five short blasts were sounded and other small craft cleared out of the way.

He saw only two men on the cargo boat in question and when it was about 150 feet away he shouted. They attempted to turn the boat's head on to the tide but failed to get her completely around and she then banged into the Hoihow with considerable force and in capsizing broke in two, both parts floating downstream on the same side of the steamer.

Under cross-examination the witness declared that it was not correct that the Hoihow changed her direction just before the collision. He noticed that the engines were stopped after the crash. It would be untrue to say that the steamer had cut the cargo boat in two.

Mr. Reader Harris read from the log "At 3:02 p.m. the junk struck the vessel. The junk was cut in two and sank." This, the witness said, was incorrect.

Mr. Harris referred to the rough log and read: "We collided with a cargo lighter, cutting same in two." Mr. Pinkney stated that this was untrue.

After further evidence had been called the hearing was adjourned until this morning.

Lengthy correspondence dealing with the project to revise water rates in the International Settlement and establish a meter system to determine rates and supply is published in the current issue of the Municipal Gazette. AERO STANDARDISATION

(Reuter's Service)

London, Feb. 14.—The international conference in London on the standardisation of airship fittings, at which Great Britain, France, Germany, Russia, America and others are represented, has adopted a principle of standardisation with a view to enabling airships of one nation to use the landing, mooring, gassing and refuelling arrangements of any other.

The conference has also appointed a sub-committee to recommend the most suitable standards.

N. Y. K. TO SEND PACIFIC BOATS TO ATLANTIC RUN

(China Press Service)

Tokio, Feb. 5 (by mail).—In view of the growing dullness of the Seattle-Orient service and the increasing briskness of cargo movements from Europe to Japan, the Nippon Yusen Kaisha has decided to take its fleet of four passenger liners from the Pacific to the European run and replace them with the four relatively inferior passenger ships now on the European run. It is reported that a petition has already been made to the Government to carry the decision into effect and that the change is likely to be made by April.

The N. Y. K. liners now on the Pacific line are the Fushimi Maru, 10,928 tons, the Suwa Maru, 10,672 tons; the Kashima Maru, 9,908 tons, and the Katori Maru, 9,347 tons. The four N. Y. K. freighters now in the Pacific service are to remain there. The vessels to be transferred to the European run are the Shizuoka Maru, the Yoshino Maru, the Kamo Maru and the Kitano Maru. The Pacific steamers have a total tonnage of 41,355 and those now running to Europe 24,860. The double transfer will mean a decrease in the N. Y. K. tonnage on the Pacific by 16,495 tons.

The passenger end of the European service is the one which is showing especially increased activity now. It is said that cabins are well booked from Japan to Europe for several months ahead and that bookings extend even well into August. The American, British and Japanese companies operating on the Pacific will benefit by the change.

Mines Still Idle In South Africa

(Reuter's Service)

Johannesburg, Feb. 13.—A few enginemen, upon whom the success of the effort to restart mines chiefly depends, returned to work today, but not sufficient miners have yet returned to enable the resumption of operations.

The managements have warned the strikers that it will be impossible to employ all the old hands.

Fifty-six pickets were arrested today.

"Glowing Comfort"

After the exhilaration of a cold day in the open, the growing comfort of a cosy fireside provides one of the great joys of life. With an electric radiator, lighted in an instant, diffusing warmth throughout a room immediately, this "fireside enjoyment" is always to hand and without necessitating the least labour in preparation, attention, or an after effect of dirty grates and untidy hearths.

Hongkong Shares

Messrs. Moxon and Taylor of Hongkong write as follows in their weekly share report dated Hongkong, February 10:

We have had another quiet week, with only a small business passing, and our market is no doubt affected to a certain extent by the strike.

The Shanghai market is about the same with not much enquiry even after the declaration of the final dividend of Tls. 2.40 by the Ewo Mills, making Tls. 3 for the year.

Rubber continues neglected.

The following are the principal alterations since last week.

Hongkong Banks:—Both Old and New shares have firmed up considerably and a fairly large business is being put through at advancing prices, closing with buyers at $785 old, and $770 new.

Cantons:—Are wanted at $436.

Unions:—Have firmed up to a buying rate of $240, and shares could probably be obtained at this price.

Hongkong Docks:—Have improved to $168 at which price a few shares have changed hands.

China Sugars:—Continue nominal at $150.

Cements:—Although showing a very fine report, have been rather easier with a small business doing, but close in more demand with buyers at $25½.

Wharfs:—Have firmed up and are still wanted at $93 cash.

Humphreys:—Are in good demand at $10¼ ex. dividend.

Shanghai Docks:—Are wanted at Tls. 103 ex. dividend of Tls. 3 payable yesterday.

Star Ferries:—Are still asked for at $36, without bringing out sellers.

Shell Transports:—Are slightly firmer and close with buyers at 84/-.

Exchange Market

Messrs. Maitland, Fearon and Brand write as follows in their exchange circular for week ending yesterday:

Exchange:—After slight fluctuations the London price of silver is back to last week's closing quotation 34⅜d. Exchange business in connection with imports and exports has been small, with more demand for remittances than cover. A big business in import of cotton from India is reported while exports remain stagnant. The local gold dealers have reduced their overbought position in Gold by resales of Gold T.T. without this cover our market would have been very weak. Stocks of silver are increasing and our market closes weak.

Our stocks of silver are reported as follows:

Sycee and Bar Silver Tls. 32,551,000, an increase of Tls. 997,000.

Chinese and Mexican Dollars $24,370,000, an increase of $2,430,000.

Estimated value in Tls. 50,097,000 as against Tls. 64,670,000 held at this time last year.

Hunan Soldiers Sack City; Slay Tax Office Head

(China Press Correspondence)

Hankow, Feb. 11.—Chihli troops stationed at Chenglingchi, the Maritime Customs quarters near Yochow, Hunan, broke out violently the night of February 6 looting the whole city and clearing the likin revenue offices of all of their monetary contents amounting to some $5,500.

The Superintendent of the Chenglingchi likin station was killed by the looters, and one shopkeeper was also shot during the turmoil and confusion that followed.

The looting occurred after Chihli soldiers failed to obtain their arrears of pay from Commander Chang Fu-lai, Wu Pei-fu's trusted man on the Hunan-Hupeh border region. Efforts are being made by General Chang Fu-lai in conjunction with leading gentry of Chenglingchi to effect reparations and it is said that Peking has been strongly urged to send money in order to avoid further unhappy consequences.

Stinnes' Loan To Indies Unconfirmed

(Reuter's Service)

London, Feb. 14.—Asked whether he had any information that Herr Hugo Stinnes had offered a £10,000,000 loan to the Dutch East Indies and, if so, whether such facts had been considered in assessing Germany's ability to meet her obligations, Mr. Cecil Harmsworth said that such reports had reached him from several quarters but he was unable to obtain definite confirmation of the loan offer or of Herr Stinnes' participation in the Dutch Colonial Loan. The second part of the question therefore did not arise.

BOND ISSUE SUSPENDED

London, Feb. 14.—The issue of the 5 percent Treasury Bonds, dated 1927, has been suspended until further notice.

This Year To See Great Effort To Climb Everest

(Public Ledger Service)

London, Jan. 9 (by mail).—Keen competition has developed already for a place on the Royal Geographic Society's next Himalayan expedition. The announcement that a new party would be formed had hardly been made by Colonel Sir Francis Younghusband when applications began pouring in. Brigadier General G. C. Bruce, chosen for the leadership, filled one gap, so that only six more remain, and officials of the society are waiting now to determine how many of the men who were with the party this year want to go again. There is a type of Englishman to whom the adventure appeals particularly. It was to them undoubtedly that the Manchester Guardian recently addressed the following editorial:

MANY CANDIDATES

"Many are out of luck this winter, but to some six men, not yet identified, happy chance is extending her skirts to be grasped. The Mount Everest committee will choose them to be its storm troops for the final attack—as we all hope—on Mount Everest early next summer. All the mountaineers in the empire, of course, will be longing to go. The cares of the world, if nothing else, will prevent most of them doing more than dream of the gratification of such a longing. Of the rest, or of such of them as are thoroughly fit and expert, the Mount Everest committee, fortune's almoners, will have the heartrending job of sending all but six empty away. To these six will be awarded the most glorious chance that men ever had of standing, first of all mankind, on the highest point upon the surface of the earth. From a point of view in the moon Mount Everest and all the Himalayan peaks would no doubt have no more majesty than the less icy ranges of 'hubukles and whelks and knobs upon Bardolph's nose.' But, now that both poles have been reached and all parts of Africa scoured, the highest peak in the world is the one brilliant and memorable thing left to be done in the way of obvious explorations of the earth.

"This prize has now been fully reconnoitered and primed and prepared in a wonderful way for the ultimate victors. They will be like the toreador who comes in at the finish when all the obscure sons of Martha who do the preliminary coolie work to the bull have retired from the ring. A score of adventurous pioneers have for years been amassing the needful body of knowledge of general Himalayan conditions.

PUBLIC TO PAY COSTS

"This year an expedition financed by a public subscription has done the ample staff work needed for a thoroughly well managed and successful reconnaisance. Next year's final assailants of the peak will be the head of a long and lusty spear of multifarious personnel and material, provided and marshaled by the committee. The task of the six will be to climb, really to walk under severe psysical difficulties from cold, wind pressure and deficiency of oxygen in the air the last 6,000 feet of vertical height and the last two miles of horizontal distance.

"Six thousand feet is less than twice the height of Scawfell; it is about the height that you walk of an afternoon from Zermatt up the track to the little Matterhorn. Of course the going on Everest will be very different: how different is expressed by the fact that when the reconnoitering party reached its highest point this year, the longed for point two miles away and 6,000 feet higher was quite beyond its power to reach. It will be a tough job for the six, and success will not come without much toil and pain; it may not come next year at all. But in a world full of tough jobs, pains, fatigues, uncertainties of victory, what a golden tough job for any mountaineer to get to try the strength of his youth upon. Whoever the happy men may be they deserve all our congratulations and they will have all our best wishes in the assault."

WEATHER

Overcast weather with intermittent rain. Easterly breezes over the China coast between Shantung and Formosa. Variable winds in the South.

The New American Club

THE decision of the American club to purchase a large tract of land on Foochow Road for a permanent home of that thriving organisation is something that should be hailed with delight by every American in Shanghai and the Far East, regardless of whether he holds membership in the club.

The American club has been too big for the present quarters on Nanking road for several years, a condition which the governing committee fully realised, but for which the most painstaking efforts did not yield a solution until the opportunity was presented to acquire the Foochow road holding.

The new property, which lies between Kiangse and Honan roads, on the south side of the street, is ideally located for club purposes. First of all it is just across the street from the new municipal building, thus giving a guarantee of a permanently pleasant outlook. It is in a neighborhood that is gradually being built up with modern office and mercantile buildings, and it is near Avenue Edward VII, for which a great future is predicted.

Foochow Road at the point indicated is a wide, modern street, which will afford plenty of room for parking motor cars, always an important consideration in a down town club. To realise how greatly motor car parking feature is appreciated by club members, one has only to look at the Bund opposite the Shanghai club at tiffin time.

While nothing definite has been done as yet in the matter of planning a building for the new site, the members of the organisation can rest assured that the committee will leave nothing to be desired in this respect, and that the permanent club home, when it is finally erected, will be a credit to the club and a monument to American enterprise in this part of the world.

There is an aspect of this enterprise that should not be overlooked by Americans, namely, the fact that a club of this kind means a whole lot more to the American community than a pleasant rendezvous for those who happen to be listed on its membership rolls. It is, in addition, a standing guarantee that Americans are in China to stay, and that they are fully determined to bring about, by every legitimate means within their power, an enlargement of their commercial relations with China and an intensification of the present good will that exists between the two nations.

Just as the average citizen prefers to trade with the established merchant who conducts his business in a solid building, rather than take chances with the itinerant trader who disposes of his wares today and is gone tomorrow, so Chinese confidence in Americans and the things they represent will improve with the establishment of this fine new club. It will be a steel and concrete certificate of intention on the part of Americans to stay here with the goods and service that constitute their stock in trade.

Americans have the reputation of being great advertisers, and it is doubtless true that if the heads of even the great European commercial houses knew what enormous sums American firms devote to advertising they would be staggered. And yet, Americans who have traveled in those outlying parts of the world where all the nations are seeking trade, and have seen how the big European firms establish themselves in magnificent business homes, and have observed the concern with which the great European governments establish their consular and diplomatic representatives in substantial, permanent offices and residences, have wondered if, after all, Americans are as astute in advertising as they give themselves credit for being. For when all is said and done, a fine modern business home in a foreign land is per se an advertisement not only for the firm that owns it and makes daily use of it, but also for the whole body of men, women and children of that nationality.

Who, having a school boy's intelligence, would deny that the fine new building now nearly completed for Messrs. Jardine, Matheson & Co., Ltd., will constitute a magnificent advertisement, not only for that splendid firm, but for the whole British community in Shanghai as well? Or that the new Glen Line building, or the new Hongkong and Shanghai bank building will serve the same purpose?

And by the same course of reasoning, what American does not thrill with pride when he passes the new Dollar building on Canton Road? A structure which at home would be simply a part of a street scene in a big city, but which, out here, is an emblem of the power, the grandeur and the principles of the great Republic that he is so proud to call his own! Nothing in Shanghai save the American flag makes the average American in the street so proud of his country, and his nationality, as the new Dollar building. Would that there were miles more of them!

Reference to the diplomatic and consular homes and offices of European governments in China and elsewhere brings to mind a sore point with all Americans who have traveled abroad, namely, the wholly inadequate housing arrangements that are provided for Americans in similar capacity. This is a particularly sore point with Americans in Shanghai, for the opportunity has long existed here for America to have the best—or at least one of the two best—consulates in the city.

The land on which the American Consulate stands is owned by the American government, thanks to the fact that the late Edward I. Ezra, himself a British subject, bought the ground, after one American Congress had declined to take advantage of an opportunity to do so, and held it until another Congress, years later, could be prodded out of the customary Congressional indifference long enough to take it off his hands for exactly what he paid for it, without a cent of profit.

Mr. Ezra did this in response to the appeals of a number of American friends, who explained the workings of the American political system to him and the difficulty of getting the American Congress excited about anythinz outside of America, and did it, moreover, without a thought of any profit to himself from the transaction. When he was told that the United States government needed the land, and that eventually the powers that be at Washington would make up their minds to buy it, he said, simply: "Very well, I will buy it now and hold it until they make up their minds."

That's how the United States government happens to own one of the most desirable and valuable plots of ground in Shanghai at the present time.

Now it is up to Congress to build a suitable building on that piece of ground. American prestige demands it. The American club, a private enterprise, has pointed the way. The only thing that remains is for Congress to act.

Recent despatches from Washington have told of the enormous sums that would be saved by reason of the naval and armament limitation treaties enacted at the Conference just closed. What better use could be made of a small fraction of this money than to build a new consulate home and office here in Shanghai?

American business firms are looking to China as never before for an extension of their trade here, and if they only knew it, a fine, new Consulate here would go a mighty long way in supplementing the printed advertising they are paying for in the laudable hope of capturing a share of that trade.

Americans in Shanghai should write to the Senators from their home states and the Representatives in Congress from their home districts apprising them of this fact, and emphasising, with all the power of their pens and typewriters, the good that would accrue, not only to the American community here but to American business firms at home, if advantage were taken of the present opportunity to build a Consulate that would serve not only as a suitable center for American consular business, but as an advertisement for all things American.

WHEN DOES A MAN FALL

When he makes a vow he fails to keep;
When without sowing he would reap;
When he would rather beg, borrow, or steal
Than work to earn an honest meal;
When he delights to stir up strife
Or values honor less than life;
When he insults a fallen foe,
Or at a woman aims a blow.

TEMPTATION

He had sworn to her, sworn on his word of honor before she had left the room that he would not touch it, that she could trust him. And she had trusted him, had trusted him so foolishly, so utterly, so utterly, that she had actually left him alone with it. It had never even entered her head to doubt him or think that he might not keep his word.

At the realisation of this he laughed aloud, but his inopportune hilarity was soon over, stilled by his secret recognition that indeed this was no laughing matter. Presently driven to desperation by his struggle against temptation, he arose and paced feverishly up and down.

With every moment his desire gained strength till it threatened at last to overwhelm him. What, he wondered, would she do if ultimately he were to yield? Would she turn on him with invective and scorching anger, or merely dissolve in tears?

If only he could think of some prearranged plan or strategy by which he might hide his guilt, he might even succeed by some miraculous means in throwing the blame on another. But that he knew was impossible. And though these thoughts acted as a deterrent to his desire, he knew his resolve was weakening. He loved the woman, but his love was not strong enough to prevent him from hurting her.

And gradually a streak of callousness in his nature fought its way uppermost. "She shouldn't have left me alone with it," he murmured. "She will only have herself to thank."

He stole towards the table...

Some moments later the woman returned smiling. She crossed the room; there was a moment's absolute silence.

With a violent gesture she turned. "You brute!" she cried, "you swore you wouldn't, and you've taken the last cigarette."

SILLY ASS

They stood beneath the stars, the silence of the night being broken only by the intensified sound of two hearts beating as one.

For a moment he withdrew his gaze from the dazzling depths of her eyes to the diamond-studded shirt front of the sky.

"Is that Mars?" he whispered, as he slipped his arm around her small, slim waist, and gazed upon a glittering orb in the heavenly dome.

"No, it isn't" she exclaimed, angrily, "it's mine: and if you can't tell the difference between my waist and mother's after you've been courting me for eight years, well, you——"

Her voice broke, and her head fell forward upon her arm——

"We had better part!"

Fortunately the misunderstanding was adjusted before anything more serious resulted.

BY JOSEPHUS DANIELS

I have been asked two questions which many are thinking about in the discussion of reducing the great navies of the world. They are:

1.—How much money will be saved to the United States taxpayers by the scrapping of the ships under the Hughes proposition?

2.—What will be the strength of the American navy after the scrapping?

Talking with naval officials and able naval officers in Washington, I found the general feeling at the Navy Department was that the money saving would be small in comparison with the public expectation. The only direct saving in expenditure will be secured by not completing the fifteen great ships under construction. If completed, their total cost would be $550,000,000. Already some of them are nearly completed, and material for others has been fabricated.

When they are scrapped we will have spent $332,000,000 on them and that money will go to the bottom of the sea. The net savings will be the $218,000,000 additional which they would have cost if completed. It seems a pity to destroy these ships, so nearly completed. If we are still to maintain a large navy, as Mr. Hughes's plan proposes many people think it would be better to complete the new and better ships with their sixteen-inch guns already 50 percent completed and sink such ships as the Delaware, Florida and up to and including the Wyoming class than sacrifice the latest word in big ships upon which so many millions of dollars have been expended.

"REDUCED NAVY" IS BIGGER

What about the other money to be saved. That will depend upon Congress—whether it will reduce the number of officers and men and how many. The great loss of the navy is the pay and provision for its personnel, and expenditure is based upon the number of men in the service.

As to the second question of the strength of the navy after the scrapping takes place—how will it stand? Captain Dudley W. Knox one of the best posted officers of the navy, in a recent article in the New York Times, answered that question from the standpoint of naval officers.

"The fact is," said Captain Knox, "that Mr. Hughes's proposed navy is actually larger than the navy now in service. The ships designated to be scrapped are composed almost exclusively of those still under construction and those laid up out of commission, with no personnel on board. In some classes of ships Mr. Hughes's proposals exceed the tonnage afloat and projected.

"For example, in aircraft carriers, we have about 20,000 tons building, as against 80,000 proposed. Many ships now in the navy and which will be retained under any agreement the conference may reach are already reduced to such small complements as can barely prevent them from deteriorating seriously—much less operate them efficiently on a normal peace basis. For example, out of about 300 first line destroyers we have but 65 in active commission, on an 84 percent complement, and the remainder on a 50 percent basis.

"We have eighteen battleships in commission, precisely the number named in the proposals before the conference, but they have only 88½ percent of the ordinary peace complement of personnel. The entire navy, afloat and ashore, is running about 76 percent of the normal peace complements."

If Captain Knox is right, the expectations which the Washington Conference has aroused of a greatly decreased naval budget will turn out to be a great illusion. It cost about one hundred and thirty million dollars a year for all naval expenditure (including new dreadnoughts) before the war began in Europe. Who expects to see the appropriation that low under the reduction proposed? Are we to have the promise to the car to be broken to the hope?

COMPARATIVE FIGURES

The United States proposals at the conference, brought forward so dramatically by Secretary Hughes, will make radical changes in time in all navies, but it is interesting to consider their immediate effect upon the navy of the United States.

The navy as we find it today has been the growth of forty years, as it was just forty years ago that the country undertook to rehabilitate the navy after the period of "dry rot" which set in immediately after the Civil War.

Elsewhere on this page is shown a table—table I showing in figures the growth of the navy in dreadnoughts and all vessels during the ten-year period.

Table No. 1 summarises ten years of progress of the United States navy and shows in the first place our steady growth in dreadnoughts. There was long a difference of opinion whether the Michigan and South Carolina, finished in 1910 with dreadnought guns and armor and pre-dreadnought speed, should be classed as dreadnoughts or pre-dreadnoughts. In 1920 they were finally relegated to the pre-dreadnoughts, which accounts for the fact that July 1, 1920, the official table gave us 16 dreadnoughts as against 17 a year before.

During the year, however, we added a real dreadnought of more displacement than the South Carolina and Michigan put together, so in spite of a net loss of one our dreadnought displacement increased 300 tons.

Considering now the column of all vessels fit for service, we see that from July 1, 1912, to July 1, 1917, the number increased from 323 to 373 and the tonnage from 169,576 to 1,532,925. The number increased 15½ percent while the tonnage increased 31 percent or twice as much. This because of the steadily increasing size of naval vessels.

The next four years tell a different tale. Numbers increased from 373 to 782, or 110 percent while displacement increased from 1,532,925 to 2,081,840 or about 36 percent. This because of the large numbers of destroyers, subchasers and other small vessels built during the war.

WILL SHIPS BE SUNK?

The column showing numbers "under construction" is interesting as showing at a glance our enormous undertaking during the war but its last entry is for July 1 last, and includes several small vessels, holdovers from wartime, that have since been completed.

On November 1, 1921, we had 76 instead of 80 vessels under construction comprising 9 battleships, 6 battle cruisers, 10 scout cruisers, 41 submarines and 10 auxiliaries and miscellaneous. The displacements are as follows:

Battleships	357,000
Battle cruisers	261,000
Scout cruisers	75,000
Submarines	40,000
Auxiliaries and miscellaneous	61,875
Total	794,945

Under the Hughes plan battleships hereafter will be discarded at the age of twenty years. It is interesting to note, however, that a part of the plan is the discarding at this time of our fifteen pre-dreadnoughts. Of these, however, only three are now as much as twenty years old from date of first commission. Four are seventeen years old, one is sixteen, five are fifteen and two are twelve. But none of them have guns of over 12 inches, and modern ships carry 14 to 16-inch guns and therefore greatly outrange 12-inch gun ships.

These fifteen vessels cost complete, when built, $99,536,726, and when their tonnage of 227,740 is added to the 357,000 tons of the nine battleships to be scrapped, and the 261,000 tons of the six battle cruisers, we reach the very tidy figure of 845,740 tons, built and building, to be scrapped. It was not until 1908 that our whole navy reached a displacement greater than this figure, so that we are scrapping in tonnage a

How Strong A Pot Would Hold The Ocean?

BY GARRET P. SERVISS

Eminent Astronomer and Authority on Subjects of scientific Interest.

I have in that wonderful city of active minds, Chicago, a correspondent, and, as she kindly assures me, a "constant reader," who is greatly interested in the question of water pressures and, likewise evidently, a little skeptical concerning some of the averments of physical science on that subject.

There is indeed a great deal that is apt to prove puzzling in the laws of hydromechanics, and probably many persons find them stumbling blocks. For instance, you are not likely to meet at random with people ready to believe, on your sayso, that a dam that would hold a small pond would hold the Atlantic Ocean just as easily, provided that the ocean was no deeper than the pond. You will generally find that people suppose that the size of a body of water, i.e., its superficial extent, or rather its volume, governs the amount of pressure that it exerts on its sides. But the fundamental hydrostatic law says that the pressure depends only on the depth and not on the quantity of water. And this is true no matter what the unit of measurement may be, whether a square inch or a square foot or a square mile.

Consequently, a dam that is strong enough to hold back a lake a mile long will also be strong enough to hold back a lake a hundred miles long, or one as long as the ocean is broad, provided always that the depth is the same. Of course, it is also assumed that the water is not in motion. A seawall that would stand against the steady pressure of the Atlantic might be quickly overthrown if the ocean's weight were hurled against it in the form of storm billows. It is to still water (hydrostatic, "standing water") that this law applies.

Suppose the ocean, instead of having shelving shores, were enclosed in a vast tank with vertical sides, three miles in height. The prossure per square foot against any one of the sides would vary from zero at the top to about 990,000 pounds at the bottom. That would also be the rate of pressure on the bottom. This is found simply by multiplying the pressure at the bottom of a cubic of water one foot high, which is about 62½ pounds, by the number of feet in three miles—the assumed depth of the ocean, or height of the vertical retaining wall. That pressure would be exerted in every direction at the ocean's bottom, not only downward and sidewise, but also upward. That is the peculiarity of a liquid, that it transmits the pressure, due to its weight in all directions, so that its particles all squeeze one another with the same pressure.

"Pressure due to its weight," I have said, and therein lies the clue to the increase of pressure with depth. If water were compressible to any considerate extent, its density, i.e., its weight per unit volume, would also be greatly increased at the bottom of the ocean, but in fact, water is so little compressible that, for our present purpose, we may neglect the slight increase of density caused by the pressure. Thus every cubic foot of water weighs 62½ pounds, and when 15,840 cubic feet of water are superposed in a vertical line, the weight and the pressure at the bottom will be, as already stated, 990,000 pounds. And owing to the property of the water of transmitting any pressure to which it is subjected equally in all directions, this pressure will be exerted against the sides, close to the bottom, as well as perpendicularly upon the bottom itself.

It is this horizontally transmitted pressure that tends to push out the bottom of a dam, and the engineer being able to calculate its amount from his knowledge of the depth of the water thickens and strengthens his dam proportionately at the bottom. The dam is made less thick at a greater height because the pressure decreases with diminishd depth.

Now, going back to our imaginary ocean inclosed in a tank with vertical walls three miles high, let as suppose the ocean to diminish in breadth until, from being 3,000 miles wide from East to West, it becomes only a long tank, say fifteen feet across; what will be the effect upon the pressure, per square foot, at the bottom and on the sides. There will be no effect.

The law tells us that the pressure depends only on the depth and the density of the water and not at all on its quantity, or superficial extent. The total weight, of course, would be enormously greater when the ocean was 3,000 miles instead of only fifteen feet broad, but the pressure per unit of area would remain unchanged. On a section of fifteen square feet of the vertical wall the pressure would amount to about 14,800,000 pounds if the section were near the bottom, and to about 6,225 pounds if the section were near the top, and these figures would be the same whether the ocean were 3,000 miles or three yards across.

The key to all this is the equal transmission of pressure in all directions, and there is a lot of good, useful and absorbing thinking to be done with its aid.

The well-known writer and lecturer on cooking.

Creamed Chicken with Asparagus

Melt 2 tablespoons butter, add 2 tablespoons flour and blend well. Add 2 cups of rich milk or thin cream and stir constantly until smooth and creamy. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Add 2 cups of diced cooked chicken and 1 cup of asparagus tips. Reheat and serve in timbale cases or on buttered toast.

Turkey and Spaghetti Surprise

Melt 2 tablespoons butter, add 3 tablespoons flour and blend well. Add 1 cup of thin cream, 1 teaspoon salt and a dash of paprika. Stir constantly until smooth and thick. Add 1 cup of cold sliced turkey, ½ cup cooked spaghetti, cut in short lengths, and ½ cup cooked mushroom caps. Fill buttered ramekins with this mixture, sprinkle with a little grated Parmesan cheese and buttered bread crumbs. Bake in oven until delicately brown. Have ready about ¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese and a cup of buttered bread or cracker crumbs for sprinkling the ramekins.

Chicken Mousse

Soften 2 tablespoons gelatine in 4 tablespoons cold water or chicken broth. Dissolve in 2 cups of boiling chicken stock, well seasoned. When cool add 4 cups of chopped cooked chicken. Set aside until ready to use. For the second part of the musse soak 2 tablespoons gelatine in 4 tablespoons broth or water and then dissolve in 2 cups of boiling chicken stock, well seasonec. Cool and when mixture begins to set fold in 1 cup of cream, beaten until stiff. Rub a large melon mold, a bowl or vegetable dish may be used instead of the mold with butter or oil. Decorate with hard-cooked egg, parsley sprigs, strips of red pepper or sliced stuffed olives. Gently pour in a little of the second mixture, and when it becomes firm add a layer of the chicken mixture. Arrange alternate layers of the cream and chicken mixtures until all is used. Just before serving unmould on a large serving dish, garnish with heart lettuce leaves and serve with cooked salad dressing. The dressing may be served in tomato, green pepper or boiled beet shells or baskets. This makes an excellent dish for supper or luncheon parties.

Minced Chicken on Toast (Italian Style)

Have ready ¾ cup of mushrooms—fresh, canned or dried. If the dried ones are used they should be soaked for several hours in cold water. Cook them gently in ¼ cup butter, add ½ teaspoon salt and a dash of paprika. Remove a few of the choice mushroom caps to use as a garnish. To the mushrooms and butter add a few drops of onion juice, 4 tablespoons sifted flour and, if desired, a few grains of nutmeg. Gradually add 2 cups of strained tomato and stir until thick and free from lumps. Add 3 cups of diced cooked chicken, reheat, and serve on rounds of toast. Garnish with the cooked mushroom caps.

Chicken and Oyster Pie

Butter a deep baking dish and in it arrange layers of cold cooked chicken and well-cleaned oysters and sprinkle with salt and paprika. Dot with bits of butter and cover with cream sauce made of the chicken broth. Cover with the following crust: Mix and sift 1½ cups flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder and ½ teaspoon salt. With the tips of the fingers work in 1-3 cup shortening and mix to a soft dough with milk. Turn out on a lightly floured board and roll into a sheet. Butter the edge of the baking dish and place the crust in position. Make several slits in the crust so that the steam can escape. Brush crust with melted butter and bake about 45 minutes in a moderate oven.

By J. Daniels: "It Is A Pity To Destroy Our Fifteen Dreadnoughts"

displacement equal to that of our whole navy in 1903.

The "scrapping" of these ships involves the disposition of hull, armor, propelling machinery and armament. The exact procedure has not been determined and is one of the questions to be settled by the conference. Two courses are possible: One, to absolutely destroy or reduce to scrap metal the vessels in question, or possibly take them out and sink them. The other course is to utilise as much of the material as practicable for non-war purposes.

The first course must be largely followed as regards the fifteen old battleships. Our experience, and that of Great Britain, has shown that such vessels have very little sale value. They are usually sold at almost a nominal price to shipbreakers under a guarantee that they will be reduced to scrap metal, and the naval authorities follow up the transaction until the reduction to scrap metal is completed.

As regards the vessels under construction, however, it might be found possible to convert some of them for merchant purposes. For instance, the Shipping Board is investigating the possibility of converting some of the battle cruisers into fast Atlantic liners. This is mechanically possible and would enable us to salvage a large part of the $10,000,000 or more already put into these vessels in the shape of actual construction or material in the hands of subcontractors.

$332,000,000 LOSS

Our new merchant marine is peculiarly deficient in the very large and very fast Atlantic liners, but it may be decided in the end that the cost of building such vessels, even with a good running start based upon the battle cruisers as they stand, is too great to be undertaken at present. In that case there is nothing for it but to reduce these vessels now on the stocks and their machinery in the hands of sub-contractors to scrap metal.

Scrapping the 15 capital ships, 9 battleships and 6 battle cruisers would reduce our tonnage under construction November 1, from 794,945 . 176,945. These fifteen capital ships have had a checkered career. Authorised as a whole by the epoch-making act of August 29, 1916, about a third of them were directed to be begun at once, the other two-thirds being covered by the acts of March 4, 1917, and July 1, 1918.

But the exigencies of the war required them to be laid aside to build destroyers and other anti-submarine craft. After the war there was further delay while the lessons of the war as regards capital ships were being studied and applied—resulting in a complete redesign in 1919 of the battle cruisers.

Nevertheless, if we stop work on these vessels tomorrow, scrap the vessels and close out the contracts in the cheapest way, we will spend on them well over 55 percent of their total cost. Complete with armor-armament and ammunition ready for service these fifteen great vessels would cost us some $550,000,000. Secretary Hughes gave us as their cost, if scrapped, $332,000,000. So the ultimate saving by scrapping them would be at a fair estimate $218,000,000.

This is a substantial figure but it is doubtful if the ordinary citizen will find an appreciable reduction in his tax bill by reason of it.

True, there will be large prospective savings in the future by reason of the fact that we will not maintain and operate a navy increased over what we have at present, but the Hughes plan does not largely reduce our present navy and savings as regard it can be made only by reducing our active navy in commission below that left us under the Hughes plan.

This is evident at a glance from Table No. 2, which shows in parallel columns arranged according to the latest classifications our navy fit for service July 1, 1912-November 1, 1921, and as modified by the Hughes plan.

Nanking University Plans Extensive Campaign Of Cotton Improvement Study

At a combined meeting of the Cotton Millowners' Association of China and the Cotton Anti-Adulteration Association held Tuesday, there were present Messrs. E. C. Pearce (chairman), J. A. Moller, R. J. McNicol, R. Spunt, A. Jessiman, K. Ohno and J. B. Griffing.

Mr. Griffing submitted a report of cotton improvement of the University of Nanking for 1921, together with a summary of plans for 1922.

After this address, it was proposed by Mr. E. C. Pearce and seconded by Mr. R. J. McNicol that the sum of $9,700 be voted by the two Associations for Cotton Experiment and Improvement work during the current year, $2,700 of this amount to be paid by the Cotton Millowners' Association and the balance by the Cotton Anti-Adulteration Association. This was carried unanimously.

Following is the report on cotton improvement of the University of Nanking for 1921:

The cotton improvement work may be said to be divided into two distinct stages; first, the securing of an acclimatised or improved seed supply, and second, the introduction of this seed supply to the farmers, and the general promotion of cotton growing. In the light of efforts in other countries, success in the first stage requires a minimum of three to five years. At the University of Nanking in order to hasten the progress during this first stage, what is doubtless the most elaborate and detailed piece of acclimatisation work that has ever been developed in the history of the cotton industry, has been planned and carried out. During the first year the seed fields were not only severely rogued to discard all plans not true to type but six thousand individual plants of the Trice variety and more than one thousand of the Acala were selected and picked separately. The picked specimens of seed cotton from these plants were studied with great detail in the laboratory discarding all but a total of about eight hundred individual selections. During the past year these selections have been grown in separate rows, have been picked separately, and further studied both in the field and laboratory in order to detect evidences of degeneration or superiority with a further discarding of the poorest and retaining of the best. In addition to this more than two thousand individual selections have again been made.

ACCLIMATISATION RESULTS

The important feature of the year's work has been the demonstration for the first time of the certainty that this acclimatisation method can be positively successful in China. That this is true is evident from the fact that many of the separate rows, approximately one third, are above the standard in their quality and character for average American cotton and about one tenth are much better than the product with which we began; that is, it is possible to have selections which are not only of an excellent quality but the progeny of which will come true to type and upon such selections a basis of improved seed supply adapted to China can be built.

"The study of the cotton from these progenies is continuing throughout the Winter but it can be estimated that there will be seed from choice individual selections from American cotton plants capable of planting over fifty mow. Seed from the best progeny rows will plant more than two hundred mow more. The seed used in planting the rest of the land which we operate directly and the seed given out for distribution will be that grown from general planting which has been rogued but not so highly selected.

Much time has thus been gained by making the number of selections studied very great so that many could be discarded and a large number of superior plants be discovered. This has been made possible by the aid of from fourteen to eighteen student assistants in the field or laboratory throughout the year."

SEED INTRODUCTION BEGUN

It is now planned to gain time in the second stage of the work by beginning a guarded distribution and opening the campaign for increased cotton growing before the extensive pure seed supply is ready. This can be safely done on account of the fact that American cotton is difficult to gin on native gins. Therefore by giving out seed, which though rogued, is not highly selected, during the first year, the product can be entirely recovered at the ginning center by purchasing the cotton from the farmers in the seed. The seed grown by them may thus be retained and better seed can be given back to them from the pure seed farm. In this way expansion may be rapidly promoted by the giving out of any ordinary seed and continually replacing it with something better. This work was already started during the past season with propaganda for cotton growing among the farmers by means of country fairs and exhibits aided by demonstration of modern tools and with stereoptican pictures. Such fairs were given in four places about Nanking and in five out stations with an attendance of farmers ranging from two hundred to two thousand.

GINNING CENTER

The growth of cotton in the central seed producing area at Nanking has been greatly encouraged by the establishing during the past season of a ginning center which cannot only receive and gin the cotton from the farmers but can also purchase the same. Previously the Nanking cotton buyers have refused to buy foreign cotton. The gin unit which was provided operated very successfully showing a capacity of more than 250 catties of seed cotton per hour and could without difficulty gin the cotton from an area of more than five thousand mow which in turn could supply seed for one hundred thousand mow.

SEED FARM RESULTS

In general the cotton growing season during the past year was unfavorable owing to floods and serious typhoon damage, but save for discouraging yields the plan of cotton improvement work was not hindered. In fact more could be learned during an unfavorable year than under ideal conditions and acclimatisation work is of course most successful under the most trying conditions. At Nanking there were a total of one hundred and sixty mow of which approximately eighty mow was from a seed of individually selected plants. This selected seed was planted very thinly instead of by ordinary methods in order to give maximum multiplication. The Trice variety suffered considerable damage by typhoons which struck the country when the cotton was beginning to open, but the Acala fields which were about ten days later were not so seriously injured. The local farmers without any previous seed distribution propaganda and in spite of previous discouragement by lack of market for their product raised foreign cotton for delivery to us to the extent of purchases amounting to $1,012.10. Part of the seed from their farms we have made into fertiliser and part will be disposed of for oil. There is enough of our own seed now on hand to distribute to about two thousand mow besides our own planting of nearly five hundred mow. If all seed should be used in the future a multiplication of fifteen to twenty might be expected.

The propaganda of seed introduction about Nanking and in all of the cotton stations has already aroused great interest but a wider introduction must be brought about by summer and early fall campaigns, first in order that farmers may see for themselves the cotton, its excellency, its yield, and its method of culture; second, in order that they may not plant winter crops of wheat or beans which will interfere with cotton planting the following year.

A similar campaign to promote cotton growing has been started in the out stations of Nanhsuchow and Chuchow, and in the new points of Shuiko and Hochow.

CHINESE COTTON IMPROVES

The three choice strains of Chinese cotton were carefully grown this year in such a way as to secure a maximum multiplication. Each of these gave gratifying results in that the high standard of lint length, fineness, size of boll and yield was maintained. As this is the third generation the permanence of these qualities is assured. Even though handicapped by severe storm damage there will be enough seed from these new types for about thirty mow. In addition to these three new varieties, a general selection of good Chinese cotton has been multiplied in the stations at Kiangyin and Shanghai so that altogether more than one hundred mow of choice Chinese cotton can be grown this year.

GIVE SPECIAL TRAINING

Besides continuing the training of two regular assistants and twelve other part time assistants, a special training was given in a six week's summer school course to a class of twenty-five young men from various parts of the country. These men not only carried through a definite course of study but participated in all the field activities.

For lower classes of work a number of intelligent workmen were selected from among the farmer class and have been given special training in all phases of cotton farming and ginning so that they may take charge of cotton farms in the future.

CULTURAL METHODS

After many experimental models were tried out a suitable and inexpensive cotton cultivator has been made which combines simplicity and low expense with ease of adjustment and operation. Several models of this type were made and used throughout the season. It is hoped by the general introduction of this implement to not only increase the yield of cotton but to greatly reduce the labor of cotton growing which is the chief obstacle to expansion.

Several types of foreign plows have been tried out but most of them have not been adapted to conditions or were too expensive. One type however, has proven to be much more efficient and durable than the native plow, and a shipment of them has recently been received from the factory to be sold at cost which will be about twelve dollars Mexican. Already at least six have been disposed of.

BULLETINS IN DEMAND

There has been an increasing demand on the part of schools and cotton organisations for our bulletins so that reprints of nearly all of them have been necessary. One organisation has just requested that we have a considerable number reprinted at their expense.

Since the last report an article has been presented through Millard's Review on "Cotton Insect Problems of China." This has been subsequently reprinted in both English and Chinese.

For more immediate results, particularly with farmers, exhibits, demonstrations and fairs are even more effective and several sets of portable materials have been used in a number of places. Besides giving special fairs on set occasions, this demonstration material has been used generally by assistants in tea house, village festival days, mission meetings and teachers institutes. The recent wide spread interest in Agriculture which the mission schools have shown is of considerable importance in cotton improvement work, for the school as a community center offers an ideal opportunity for agricultural propaganda, and the school garden is an excellent place for the growing of a demonstration plot of cotton. Co-operative arrangements for growing cotton and for the giving of agricultural exhibits and programs are being arranged at many such schools.

The various lines of work which have been described throughout this report have been made possible through the generous support of the Cotton Mill Owners Association of China (largely British) and the Shanghai Cotton Anti-aduleration Association which have provided the entire budget, amounting to $8,903.00. Space does not permit mention of the many friends both in mission stations and government schools who have aided in many ways with their hearty co-operation and hospitality.

PLANS FOR 1922

The central idea in the cotton improvement work for 1922 will be the rapid expansion of an improved seed supply and a campaign for the introduction of the same to the cotton growers. This will be carried out as follows:

1. The area of cotton grown at the central station at Nanking by direct operation will be greatly increased. Already ground has been carefully plowed, ditched and fertiliser prepared for two hundred and seventy mow. Arrangements have been completed to take over one hundred and ninety mow more. This should annually produce seed for nearly ten thousand mow.

Previous restrictions on distributing seed will be removed where seed control can be established premitting the replacement by better seed in the future.

2. Trial amounts of seed for one or more mow will be given free as generally as possible in the central station area around Nanking in order to interest farmers and special encouragement will be given to the larger land owners to take up cotton growing. This campaign is already under way and follows the advertising campaign carried on last fall by means of country fairs.

TO CONTINUE MARKET

3. The popularity of cotton growing in the neighborhood of Nanking will be encouraged by continuing the local market as well as the ginning center which was established last fall.

4. Special aid and advice will be given to land owners and persons wishing to buy land by making trips of survey and inspection, advising which land will grow cotton to advantage and which will not.

5. Demonstration will be made in new cotton growing areas by the securing of small tracts of land near main highways, where a favorable demonstration of an excellent type of cotton can be made on fertile ground aided by careful cultivation.

6. Supplies of seed will be sent to mission stations and to schools which are located in cotton regions.

7. A special summer school course during the midst of the cotton growing season will be conducted. As many as can be attracted to take up the work will be trained. Last year there was a class of twenty-five young men with very little advertising. This year the Summer school will be especially advertised and an attendance of several times the previous number is expected. Emphasis will be placed upon teaching them to maintain an improved cotton on farm seed farms, on methods of culture and upon methods of demonstrating and campaigning for improved seed introduction. Demonstration material and exhibits will be made and supplied to such workers in considerable quantities.

8. A special effort will be made to select and train a number of farmers in cotton growing in order that they may take the position of foremen on large cotton farms. The same will be done in training special workmen for ginning and engine work.

TO HOLD FAIRS

9. During the late summer and fall while the cotton is making its best showing with the white open bolls and during the picking season, a special campaign will be carried out by means of country fairs or exhibits together with tool demonstrations, steroptican pictures and lectures setting forth the merits of cotton growing in order that the farmers may make up their minds to take up this type of farming for the following year and prepare their ground in the fall for a succeeding crop of cotton instead of wheat, winter beans or some other crop which would prevent the growing of cotton the following year.

10.—The out station work will be as follows:

At Nanhsuchow the station will be left largely in charge of two operators in the employ of the local mission but who have been trained by us at Nanking. They will devote themselves to an expansion policy aided by their country school system.

At Chuchow we will operate a small seed farm and carry on an extensive campaign of seed introduction in the fall.

At Hochow and Shuiko, two new points, we hope to carry on similar work.

At Kiangyin, a new area on the main land has been added to the work previously carried on in the Island, and both will be devoted to the multiplication of choice Chinese cotton selections which will be widely advertised, introduced by a campaign during the fall.

At Shanghai about seventy-five mow will be planted with improved seed under our supervision and an extensive campaign of the organization of the districts for the growing of improved Chinese seed will be carried on in the fall.

A similar campaign at that time will be opened at Taichong.
